The Kiwaniis Music Festival of Guelph is pleased to announce the second annual Composition Competition in honour of Oscar Bookbinder. Oscar was a dedicated musicologist and composer who immigrated to Canada from Hungary in 1957. He and his wife, Klara, lead active and fascinating lives, including teaching piano students of the highest calibre for many decades.

The Oscar Bookbinder Composition Competition is open to young musicians aged 28 and under who self-identify as emerging composers. Advanced knowledge of music and a high level of musicianship and understanding is expected.

There is a solo/duet/computer music class and an ensemble class. Other than computer music, each submission must include printed sheet music (neatly handwritten scores will be accepted, but computer-generated scores are preferred) along with a recording of either a live performance or a computer-generated (MIDI) performance. Printed music must include dynamics, tempo, and any other pertinent musical markings. The composition must not have been published. Computer Music entries do not need to include printed music but must be accompanied by a detailed explanation of how the composition was created. This should include a description of the types of sounds used and the software used to create the composition.

Solo, Duet or Computer Music Class

Vocal or Instrumental solo or duet with or without accompaniment OR Computer Music, which must be an audio-only recorded performance created by the composer with computer software and generated on the computer. This may include MIDI, computer-generated sounds, and/or recorded natural sounds, which may be manipulated on the computer or used as is.

The winner will receive $500, a plaque, and an opportunity for a future performance at a Festival event.

Ensemble Class

Vocal or Instrumental with or without accompaniment.

Minimum of 3 parts, not including optional accompaniment.

The winner will receive $1,000, a plaque, and an opportunity for a future performance at a Festival event.

Important Dates

Submission Deadline November 30, 2023

Winners will be announced in late December/early January and may be featured at the Festival Gala Concert in Guelph on February 10, 2024.

A panel of adjudicators will review and select the winning submissions. A wide variety of styles and genres of compositions is expected to be received. The adjudicators will rank the submissions according to the level of excellence achieved within their specific style and genre and then choose the best overall submission in each class. The Festival reserves the right to only choose a winner in either class if the required quality/calibre of composition is met.
